VISION

METASITU's vision for metamatic:taf is to create a platform for production of urban culture and knowledge through the use of different on-line and off-line formats and radical programming aiming for a deep engagement with the audience. We are living in revolutionary times where for the first time in history more than half of the planet is living in a city. An urban revolt that is establishing the urban as the new human habitat.

For the collaboration as Artistic Directors at metamatic:taf, METASITU proposes a cycle of exhibitions, symposiums, parties, open studios, diaries and other activities that will be looking at how the human condition is being negotiated in the urban matrix.

In that context the city of Athens will be placed at the core of our vision as a case study: an environment where novel solutions and radical approaches are taking place. From the arrival of refugees, to the financial crisis, to European identity, to gentrification, to post-coloniality, to biopolitics and geopolitics, we understand this framework as an enticing and rich platform from which to operate. At METASITU, we find that Athens is a fertile ground for this debate; a prime example where these new paradigms are being tested and negotiated.

We are aiming to make metamatic:taf a reference in the cultural world of Athens and the Eastern Mediterranean / Middle East region by promoting experimentation of formats and triggering questions revolving around the most urgent urban debates
